Political Dopesters Have Evolved A Daring
Scheme, According To Madison Advices.

M'GOVERN TO OUST LA FOLLETTE

In Senatorial Fight Two Years Hence, Is The Plot In A Nutshell--"Is Barkis Willin?"--Ought To Be, If He Isn't.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 7.—F. E. McGovern, district attorney of Milwaukee county, is being groomed by an element of the republican party as a candidate for the United States senate two years hence, when Senator R. M. La Follette will stand for reelection. The recent primary campaign, in which William Hutton, the generally accredited choice of Senator La Follette was the nomination as his companion in the upper branch at Washington, ran last in the race, has been taken as an indication of the disintegration of the La Follette machine in Wisconsin, and it is believed that F. E. McGovern, whose run last Tuesday was one of the greatest surprises, will be able to take enough of the La Follette strength away from the leader to unite with the La Follette ex-followers in a winning campaign.

Some made the break when La Follette tried to bench Governor Davidson two years ago, and many more quit the camp when he deserted Senator Stephenson after allowing that old man to expend nearly half a million dollars to help maintain the La Follette cause in Wisconsin. As to the probability of Mr. McGovern being willing to run against La Follette two years hence, it is becoming common knowledge that the Milwaukee district attorney had very direct assurances from La Follette or his close friends two years ago that the Milwaukee man would be the preferred senatorial candidate this year. If he would remain out of the race for the short term left by Senator Spooner, there is information available to show that the refusal of La Follette to speak out in favor of McGovern in the recent campaign was a great disappointment to the Milwaukee candidate, and the thought that a heart and soul support might have made him the winner has accentuated his feeling.

The foregoing will be received, no doubt, as a wild cock and bull story, but—wait and see!

$30,000,000 ENDOWMENT AFTER A HUNDRED YEARS

Will Of The Late Col. Vilas And Its Provisions
For The University Of Wisconsin.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Sept. 7.—Although it may require a century before the will of the late Col. W. F. Vilas be accomplished, his last testament, made public Saturday, assures the eventual establishment of an endowment of $30,000,000 for the University of Wisconsin. With this vast fund a large number of scholarships are to be established, a common meeting hall for university students, called "Henry Vilas Theater" is to be built, and ten professorships established, each with salaries of from $5,000 to $10,000 each, these professors to be pensioned in old age at $2,500 a year.

This Vilas estate is now valued at some $2,500,000. During the lifetime of Mrs. Vilas who is to have all the income or all of the net income from the estate. After her death, $30,000 a year is to be paid to Mrs. Mary Vilas Hauke, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Vilas, and after the death of the daughter, $50,000 each is to be paid to the two grandchildren of Col. and Mrs. Vilas. Aside from these and a few small bequests, the estate, which will not be depreciated by any of these large or small bequests, they being all paid out of the income, is to be kept intact and allowed to accumulate.

From the time the estate is turned over to the university, which will be upon the death of Mrs. Vilas, half of the net income after payment of bequests, will be used by the university and the other half turned into and added to the principal, until it reaches the sum of $20,000,000. Then three quarters of the income will be used by the university and the remaining quarter will be added to the principal, until it reaches the sum of $30,000,000, when all the income will be used by the university, as provided in the will, for the establishment and maintenance of the projected scholarships and professorships.

It is estimated that it will be all of 80 to 100 years before the capital reaches the maximum sum contemplated, but it seems beyond possibility of failure that the will of the former United States Senator and member of the cabinet will eventually in the establishment of a fund of $30,000,000 for the endowment of the University of Wisconsin.

Similar plans of accumulating endowment bequests were followed by the late President and Mrs. Charles Kendall Adams, who died a few years ago in California. President Adams was head of the university for about ten years. He left a fortune of some $30,000 to be held in trust until it accumulated to enough to maintain a score or more of scholarships. While such bequests take a long time to grow to fruition, they will eventually make the University of Wisconsin one of the richest educational institutions in the world.

BRITISH TRADES UNION CONGRESS

Delegates Present Represent 1,500,000 Working People in United Kingdom.

Nottingham, Sept. 7.—The forty-first annual Trades Union Congress opened here today with an attendance of about 400 delegates, representing 1,500,000 working people. At the opening of the congress a message of fraternal greeting was read from the American Federation of Labor.

The congress will begin the transaction of serious business tomorrow. Nearly 100 resolutions, covering the entire field of industrial and political problems, will receive attention during the week.

Industrial conciliation and arbitration are dealt with in several resolutions, the principle of compulsory arbitration in disputes being generally recommended. Further factory legislation and an increase in the number of inspectors are asked.

One of the resolutions proposes the election in London of a trade union hall; another urges direct government employment wherever practicable. The Shop Assistants' union suggests the possibility of amalgamation of the Trade Union Congress and the Labor party and the General Federation of Trades Unions as regards an annual conference. The doctors propose the appointment of a minister of labor, and the Royal Army Clothing Department employees ask for a labor day demonstration to demand an eight-hour day.

SHOT COMPANION AND SELF.

Murder and Suicide Is Sensation at Wabash, Ind.

Wabash, Ind., Sept. 7.—Murder and suicide ended the firework ride of Joel F. Baker, a carpenter, and Mrs. Sylvia Hernie, a widow. It is said Mrs. Hernie had planned to leave for Benton Harbor to be married, and her drive with Baker, an avowed admirer, was to tell him his fate. In the morning at 5:30 a traveling man went to a livery stable here to hire a rig. In front of the barn he noticed a horse standing with a man and woman in the buggy, both apparently asleep. He aroused the hostler, who opened the doors, and the horse entered the stable. No attempt was made to arouse the occupants of the vehicle, but later the proprietor of the place, thinking they were intoxicated, sent for an officer, and an investigation was made. Over the woman a laprobe had been thrown and when this was removed it was seen that she was covered with blood. Five bullets had been shot into her body, and in Baker's right hand was a revolver. His hat was upon his head, and he was sitting in a natural position, dead. Investigation showed that Baker had killed his companion while both were out of the buggy. He then loaded her lifeless form into the vehicle and started to drive back to Wabash. On the way here he killed himself. The horse had returned to the stable with the bodies, passing through the business section of the town.

LABOR DAY IS OBSERVED THROUGHOUT THE LAND

Parades, Demonstrations And Picnics Mark
Day Devoted To Sons Of Toil.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New York, Sept. 7.—A parade of nearly 50,000 men and a good-sized delegation of women was the feature of New York's celebration of Labor day. The printers and the horse-smiths and bricklayers' unions had the largest numerical representation. Besides the parade there were the usual sporting events and picnics were given by various political organizations.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Big Parade In Chicago. Chicago, Ill., Sept. 7.—William J. Bryan, who arrived here this morning, reviewed the biggest Labor Day parade Chicago has witnessed since 1892. He took luncheon at the Iron-works Club as a guest of the Injunction Reform League. In the afternoon he addressed union men at Forest Park on the subject of "Abuses of the Injunction." On the trip from Lincoln a bolt developed on the back of Bryan's neck. He wore a handkerchief to protect his neck from contact with the collar.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Usual Parade. Morristown, Tenn., Sept. 7.—Labor day was fittingly celebrated here today with a big parade, followed by a mass meeting and sports at West View Park, under the auspices of the United Labor League of Western Pennsylvania. The speakers were P. H. Morrissey, grand master of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and ex-Congressman John J. Lentz, of Columbus, O.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Great Interest In Frisco. San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 7.—San Francisco was given over to the "sturdy sons of toil" today, who paraded the streets many thousands strong in celebration of Labor day. The interest, owing to pending strikes and wage disputes, was seldom greater than this year, and in the procession were workmen from nearly every trade. The demonstration was the biggest held here in several years.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Addresses By Candidates. Richmond, Va., Sept. 7.—Labor day was appropriately celebrated here under the auspices of the Central Trades and Labor Council. The scene of the main celebration was Lakeside Park, where a program of sports and festi-ties was carried out. Addresses by the candidates for the governorship of Virginia also formed a part of the program.

Big Day In Jackson. Jackson, Miss., Sept. 7.—For the first time in its history Labor day was celebrated in Jackson today. The demonstration took place under the auspices of the Jackson Central Trades Council and was participated in by all the labor organizations of the city. The subordinate bodies of the Mississippi Farmers' Union also participated in the observance of the day.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

15,000 In Parade. Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Fifteen thousand men in eight divisions made up the annual parade of union men that marched through the downtown streets of Buffalo today. The parade was virtually the only feature of the day's celebration, the usual picnics and outdoor festivities having been abandoned in order that the workmen might spend their holiday in the pursuit of individual pleasures.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Usual Parade. Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 7.—Labor day was generally observed in Birmingham, Mobile, Montgomery and other cities of Alabama. In this city the observance consisted of the usual parade and outdoor sports. Some 2,000 members of the local unions participated in the parade. Public offices and many business houses observed the day by closing their places at noon.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Athletic Sports. Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 7.—The celebration of Labor day and the opening of the Indiana State Fair resulted in an almost total suspension of business in Indianapolis today. The unusual parade of union labor took place this morning and was one of the best seen in several years. Picnics and athletic sports under the auspices of various organizations were given this afternoon.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Offices Closed. Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—Labor day was extensively observed in the national capital today. Government departments, the banks and many business houses were closed and the labor organizations of the District of Columbia held picnics and excursions in various directions out of the city.

BRYAN DELIVERED ADDRESS AT LABOR DEMONSTRATION

Injunction Reform League Arranged The Meeting To Arouse Public Sentiment.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 7.—With the return of William J. Bryan to Chicago this city has again become the center of interest in Democratic circles. The chief purpose of Mr. Bryan's present visit is to deliver the Labor day address at a big demonstration of trades unions at Forest Park this afternoon. The demonstration has been arranged by the Injunction Reform League, which has been organized to create a strong public sentiment against the alleged abuse of the injunction writ. The injunction question will be the subject of Mr. Bryan's speech, which is to be delivered later this afternoon. The speech of the Democratic candidate is intended as a reply to that part of Judge Taft's speech of acceptance in which the Republican candidate dealt with the labor question.

The announcement that Mr. Bryan will remain in Chicago two days has attracted a large number of Democratic leaders from various parts of the country, many of whom come to consult the Nebraskaan in regard to the campaign plans. Tonight Mr. Bryan is to address a Democratic mass meeting. Tomorrow he will spend in consultation with Chairman Mack and the national campaign committee. On Wednesday he will go to Peoria to speak before the Democratic State convention.

GOMPERS FIGHTING UNCLE JOE.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 7.—Two years ago Representative Littlefield of Maine was the victim selected for political slaughter by Samuel Gompers and the American Federation of Labor, who were displeased at the attitude Mr. Littlefield had taken in regard to labor legislation before the House. This year the Federation, acting on the advice of President Gompers, will oppose the Republican candidates for Congress in general, while Speaker Cannon is to be made a special object of attack because of his alleged hostility to the measures which organized labor has been trying to get through Congress for several years past.

At Danville, the home of Speaker Cannon, Mr. Gompers began the fight in person today, speaking at the Labor day exercises in that city. This is to be followed up, according to the plans of the Federation, by sending emissaries into the rural sections of the Speaker's district to work against him.

ALASKA WHEAT IS GREAT DISCOVERY

NORWEGIAN CONSUL MAKES PUBLIC RESULTS OF TESTS.

EXPERIMENTS IN IDAHO

New Wheat May Revolutionize Wheat Growing Industry in the Northwest.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—Norwegian Consul E. H. Hobe of St. Paul, who is interested in the development of the new "Alaska wheat," predicts that this grain, native of Alaska and discovered by accident, will revolutionize wheat growing in Minnesota and the northwest. Experiments are now in progress in the famous Red River valley of Minnesota, one of the great wheat districts of the world. The new grain has been proven to produce 200 bushels to the acre, and the kernels are twice the size of ordinary wheat.

Experiments with the new grain have been progressing at Juliaetta, Idaho, for several years and it is very recently that Mr. Hobe has felt satisfied to make public the results already accomplished. He is extensively interested in agriculture and is an experienced grain grower.

"The new Alaska wheat," he says, "has been proven to produce as fine flour as the best No. 1 northern grown in Minnesota. We have tested it for flour and for bread-making qualities and it has stood every test. Grain growers are intensely interested in our experiments, and have been doubtful of the hardness of the new wheat. I have samples here in St. Paul which are remarkable in their hard quality, the size of the kernels, and the color and excellence of the grain."

"We have been slowly developing the new grain. The Idaho experiments are complete and are thoroughly satisfactory. We shall have some thousands of bushels of seed wheat this fall, while in Minnesota our experiments last week did a rushing business at Koshkonong Saturday evening.

An old schoolmate, "Chick" Denning of Chicago, called on Fay Dump, Friday.

Edward Sternke was married Wednesday to Miss Carey of Milton. After a short honeymoon they will be at home to their friends at the Riverside creamery.

Several camps of boys from Beloit have pitched their tents on Hill and Krenger's for a two weeks outing.

Two new members were admitted to the I. O. G. T. lodge Saturday. They were Mrs. Young of Chicago and Arthur W. Blaney of this place. Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Laughlin and three sons, Orr, Harold and James, and the Misses Amy Williams and Margaret Wray, who have been camping in Fisher's cottage at Sherman's grove, have returned to their homes in Janesville well pleased with their month's outing.

AYLWARD SPOKE AT LABOR DAY PICNIC

Democratic Candidate for Governor and John M. Whitehead at Clinton Today.

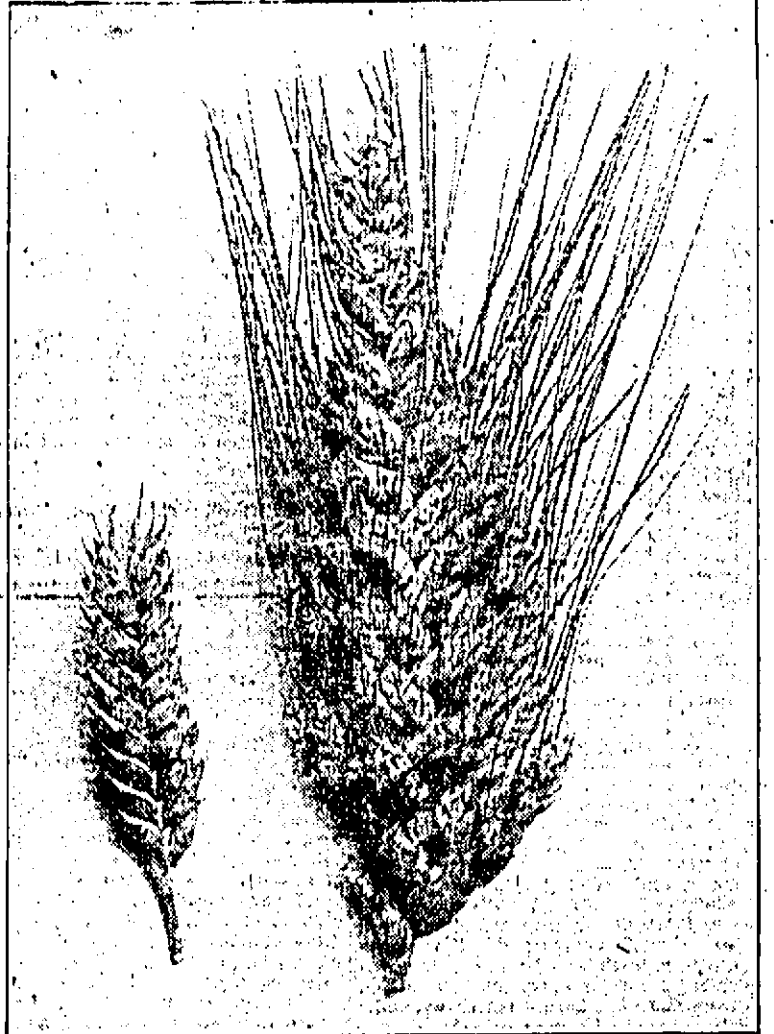

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Clinton, Sept. 6.—On Monday, Sept. 7, Labor day, Clinton proposes to have a glorious time. John A. Aylward, the democratic candidate for governor, and John M. Whitehead, state senator, are to speak in Barker's grounds. There is to be a fine ball game, good music, a show and a dance in the evening. The proper thing to do will be to come to town early and stay late. Something doing all the time.

D. M. Phillips and Mrs. Winchester are still very poorly.

The Tabbs state front has been recently repainted.

Mrs. Sarah Pense of Milwaukee came out on Wednesday to see her brother, George Irish, who was not then expected to live but a short time.

Mrs. Letta Klein has been home for the past few days.

periments are yet incomplete. We believe now that it is a foregone conclusion that the grain will grow here or on any good wheat land with equal success and productiveness.

"The head of the new Alaska wheat is curiously shaped. I can explain a best by saying that it looks like a half dozen old sizes of ordinary wheat heads growing on one stem. The head is enormous as compared with the ordinary kind, and produces grain in proportion to its size. The first seven pounds of seed gathered produced 1545 pounds of grain of the finest quality. I am convinced that we can grow 200 bushels of the best hard wheat here in Minnesota, with the adoption of the new Alaska wheat." The new wheat was discovered by Abraham Adams, while prospecting in Alaska in 1903. He brought back several heads and began experimenting at Juliaetta, Idaho. Mr. Hobe became interested in the project and has assisted in the development of the new wheat.

Samples of the grain shown in St. Paul display a remarkably long and tough straw, and tremendous productiveness from single kernels. One test kernel gave forth seven matured stems each of which bore an immense head.

Mr. Hobe gives as a result of the tests and experiments the following statements: "The new wheat will yield 200 bushels to the acre. It will grow hard from fall sowing. It will withstand the effects of frost. It will withstand moderate hail. This fact was discovered from the effects of a storm in Idaho which it was at first thought would ruin the experimental fields. It will grade up to No. 1 hard."

CAMPING AND OTHER NEWS OF NEWVILLE

Rev. J. W. Laughlin and Party Have Returned to Janesville after an Outing—Sternke-Carey Nuptials.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Newville, Sept. 7.—Thrilling is about finished, only a few small jobs remaining unfinished. On account of repairs in progress at the Indian Ford dam the river is at its lowest stage this summer. The Ladies' Aid society met Thursday at Mattie Brown's and the meeting was well attended. The Palace Pavilion shows that pitched their tents in Fay Dump's

D. S. Hamilton of Peconton was here for a short visit on Wednesday. His family has been out at the lake for three weeks.

On Thursday the Mystic Worker lodge of Sharon held a delightful picnic just out of town, at which some 250 people were present. There was a fine list of athletic stunts with good prizes, an excellent dinner, with free coffee for all, speeches by H. W. Cheever, superior director, and Geo. W. Howe, state manager, after which the Mystic Worker ball team defeated the high school boys by a score of 33 to 15. Everybody present certainly had an enjoyable time.

Mr. Stafford, a person who left this vicinity for Kansas some thirty-four years ago, was looking up Clinton friends last Friday.

There is an epidemic of quinsies here at present. One is killed for the 8th, one the 10th and the Merline Harrison administrator says is to be the 11th, while Jas. Winogara's is to come off on the 15th.

Still drying up the corn, pastures, etc.

Geo. W. Irish, another of Clinton's old-time residents and businessmen, was taken very sick with a severe attack of indigestion about ten days ago, died Thursday night. Although blind from boyhood, yet there are many people not so afflicted who have not done near the business, nor met with the success that he had. Always energetic he was bound to keep busy. He leaves a widow, whose health is poor, and a large number of relatives to mourn his departure.

Ed. McCarty of Beloit, who had his head badly hurt while switching in the Beloit yards last Wednesday, was in town a portion of the past week visiting his relatives and numerous friends.

H. A. Moehlenpau, our candidate for congress, is now getting ready for an active campaign and expects to give Mr. Cooper a good lively race. Almond Baldwin, our candidate for sheriff, expects to poll a large vote at the coming election.

An Economical Vacation Round trip tickets at figures but slightly in excess of one way fares to a hundred or more resorts in Canada and New England will be placed on sale on various dates after June 1, 1908.

A COLLAPSIBLE CRATE

Can Be Folded for Shipping and Easily Cleaned With a Hose.

A crate which can be folded into a small space and easily cleaned and which will outlast half a dozen ordinary crates has been designed by an Ohio man. For shipping poultry, or any merchandise that needs plenty of ventilation, these crates will be found very useful, as a dozen of them can be folded and shipped back in the same space that one would occupy, if opened.

When the crate is open the four sides are held into position by two iron bars that run along the top of the long sides.

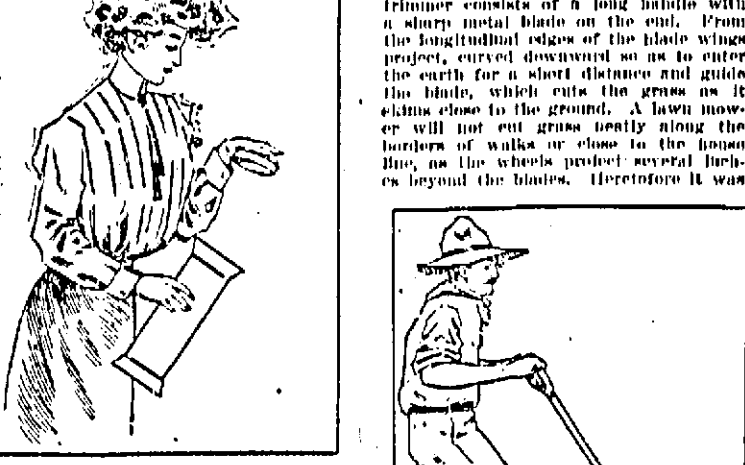

FOLDING CRATE WHEN EMPTY.

and fit in loops projecting beyond the vertical edges of the end walls. When closed the walls fall over each other and the crate occupies no more space than a thick board. It can be readily cleaned with a hose, and though the first cost may be greater than the old style crate it will be found cheaper in the end. As everyone who uses crates knows, they are usually damaged most by being knocked about when empty. In the type described there is no danger of having the walls crushed in.

PAPER MILK BOTTLE

Promises to Succeed the Glass Bottle in the New General Use.

As the old-fashioned milk pail, which was left on the doorstep for the milkman

MILK BOTTLE OF PAPER.

to all was succeeded by the more sanitary glass milk bottle, so will the latter in the near future be displaced by the paper milk bottle. A Buffalo man has successfully designed and patented one that is so constructed as to be useful for all practical purposes. The form of the milk bottle as shown in the illustration consists of a cylindrical body made of water-proofed paper. Obviously the superior advantage of the paper bottle lies in the fact that it can be destroyed after being used once, eliminating the necessity of washing and returning it as is done with the glass bottle. Being cheap to manufacture the milk dealer can afford to provide them. In addition there is no liability of shattering from ality and half-filled bottles, which statistics show have been the cause of innumerable deaths to infants and growing children who drink milk in large quantities.

Patents to Inventors

Benedict, Morrell & Caldwell, solicitors of patents, Majestic Bldg., Milwaukee, report patents issued to west-ern inventors Sept. 1 as follows: E. Hogenberger, Milwaukee, Wis., cash pivot; J. Brauer, Menasha, Wis., ship-

Prinz, Milwaukee, Wis., grain and seed separator; F. J. Rietter, Chapman, Neb., railway motor; J. M. Scott, Racine, Wis., rail way; J. L. Stodick, So. Milwaukee, Wis., chair bolt.

A. E. MATHESON AT A MASONIC PICNIC

Janesville Man Who is One of Trustees of Model Farm at Dousman is Attending Gathering There.

A. E. Matheson is attending the third annual basket picnic of Wisconsin Consolidators, A. A. S. L., at "Springbrook," the country home and farm at Dousman, today. The home consists of 319 acres, a 22-room brick house, summer dining room and kitchen, and large barn. It was presented to the consolidators by Willard A. Van Brunt of Horton and is valued at $90,000. The Hark river, outlet of the Neenah, Negawick, Nashotah lakes and rising beyond Morton, Waukesha county, flows through the farm and its waters are pumped for the barns and for fire protection. There is a fish pond, fed by a big spring, and this is to be stocked with trout. Mr. Matheson, ex-Governor Board, and thirteen others are the trustees.

HOLLAND SENDS AN ULTIMATUM.

Venezuela is Given Until November 1 to Revoke Offensive Decree.

The Hague, Sept. 7.—Holland's notes to Venezuela contain one point which appears practically as an ultimatum. Holland demands of Venezuela the revocation before November 1 of the decree issued by President Castro on May 14 last which resulted in the practical suppression of Curacao's trade. This decree made obligatory the transshipment of all goods from and to Maracaibo, and other ports in western Venezuela at Porto Cabello instead of Willemstad.

Since the government fixes a definite period in which the decree must be revoked, it appears unlikely that a blockade will begin before November.

Strike is Not Likely.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 7.—The prevailing opinion among union and street railway officials here is that there will be no strike of street car men on the trolley lines of the Rhode Island company, one of the subsidiary companies of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company. It was claimed here that some of the union leaders had expressed their determination to fight against recognition of a strike should one be declared.

Quiet at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 7.—There was practically no violation of the liquor laws here Sunday. As on last Sunday, the saloons and cafes were closed. A vigilant watch was kept by the authorities, and it was stated by Chief of Police Woodruff that he had received reports of only two violations. These were in the downtown section of the city.

Soon to Name Bishop of Rockford.

Rome, Sept. 7.—Cardinal Satolli, in his report concerning the appointment of the bishop of Rockford, Ill., announced that this matter would come up for discussion before the congregation of the propaganda at once.

Heavy Fire Loss at Armour Plant.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Armour & Co.'s immense warehouse and fertilizing plant at the Union stockyards were destroyed by fire, the loss approximating $500,000.

Smart and Serviceable

Clothes for the men that are through with the college period and have embarked in the serious business of life.

These clothes have style spelt with a big "S," but you know it's there without seeing any obtrusive bumps and frills.

The wearer of one of these suits would as readily be taken for a banker as a lawyer or merchant.

These clothes are cut on smart but dignified lines, and at once stamp their owner (in so far as clothes can) a man of taste and breeding. Come and see.

MAP SHOWING THE PROPOSED ENDURANCE RUN FROM NEW YORK TO SAN FRANCISCO AND RETURN WHICH IS PROPOSED FOR JULY 4, 1909.

It is a little early to talk of the 1909 coming at the request of several automobile manufacturers. There is one being planned, however, which will undoubtedly be the biggest event of the next season. It is to be an endurance run across the continent and return. This run will be at least three more foreign contestants and six more American. It was in order to enable these additional cars to compete that it was agreed to hold the contest in the summer of 1909 instead of this fall. Steps are already being taken to lay out the course for the competition. Cars have been started over the road to determine the best available route and arrange for all the details of the contest.

Competition is undertaken in behalf of the manufacturers who design a contest which shall thoroughly test their cars over all sort of American roads and prove their stability. It is stated that the races for especially designed high speed cars such as the Vanderbilt and the Grand Prix are well enough in their way, but there are many automobilists who are unconvinced as to what they determine. The stock car races under some conditions are subject to the same general objections. This test is the outgrowth of contests similar to the Glidden tour and is to fill the demand for a more rigid test. It is claimed that the Glidden tour is not severe enough to thoroughly test the modern automobile. It is provided that the contest shall be held between stock chassis fitted with special bodies designed to carry four men and extra supplies. The cars should carry a crew of only two men, the driver and the mechanic. These men will be required to do all the work of repair and replacement on the route and will not be permitted to accept outside help of any kind. In addition to the crew each car will carry an observer nominated by another competitor and a reporter. The cars will only run an hour before sunrise and an hour after sunset each day and all repairs and replacements must be made within these hours. The cars will be garaged under and each night and properly protected against infringement of these rules. This will insure a definite record of all the repairs that are necessary along the route and will inflict a natural time penalty for any necessary replacements.

The route of the contests has been laid out to pass through the principal cities of the country, following the great lakes and the northern route across the continent on the western trip and the southern route on the return to New York. It passes through Albany, Syracuse, Rochester, Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago, Cedar Rapids, Omaha, Oden to San Francisco on the way out and returning touches Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, Denver, Kansas City, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and back to New York. This is subject to some changes which may occur to the men who are now engaged in laying out the course. All of these details of the contest are in the hands of a general committee consisting of one representative of each contestant, while the management of the competition will be in the hands of an executive committee of prominent automobilists. In this way it is expected that the competition can be conducted on a sound basis throughout and the strictest enforcement of rules secured.

CUP QUALITY

You don't care much whether the coffee berry you buy is large or small, rough or smooth. What you are particular about is the quality of the coffee in the cup. "Cup Quality" is a trade term which means the quality of the coffee in the cup. I buy my coffees on cup tests and I blend my coffees on cup test. After years of handling coffees in the wholesale trade and after a thorough study of coffee I know this: that 9-10th of all coffee drinkers in this country have about the same taste for coffee, and I set to work to blend a coffee that would suit 9-10th of all the people of Janesville. The result is Golden Blend, blended from cup tests, a coffee that might be termed "Standard of taste." It is a blend of the highest grade South American coffees of excellent flavor. To prove these statements let me say this: One-fifth of my present customers have been using Golden Blend for the past six years; one-fourth of all the homes in Janesville are now using Golden Blend. As the quality never varies I hope to sell them Golden Blend for the next twenty years. The trouble with most coffee is not so much in the coffee itself as it is in the blending and handling. The ordinary dealer knows very little more about coffee than the ordinary housewife. And why should he? He has not time to study blending, testing and selecting coffee, especially when he can take his salesman's word for whatever the salesman says.

I KNOW COFFEE. I don't say it in an egotistical sense at all. I have made it a special study for years. I am sure that Golden Blend will suit you. If you will try a pound on my recommendation and it doesn't suit you exactly, I'll blend specially for you. I will blend in half-pound lots, and it won't cost you a cent until I have matched your tastes. Then you will be suited for all time to come.

When Baked Beans Are Baked Beans

Baked beans are baked beans only when they're baked—dry-baked—baked a golden brown, baked mealy, baked until they are nutritious—baked the home way, the only right way.

Beans cooked any other way are not baked beans.

HEINZ Baked Beans

are baked beans in every sense of the word. Not cooked in a soldered can. Not water-logged and soggy like beans that have never seen a dry oven. Every can of HEINZ Baked Beans has the same rich color and flavor, showing how uniformly they are baked. The inside of each tin upon opening is silver-bright, showing the superior tin in which they are put up.

In three different ways:—With Tomato Sauce; Plain Pork and Beans (Boston Style); Vegetarian—Without Pork.

Examine a HEINZ Improved Tin. No solder inside. Closed air-tight by crimping. The best tin for the best beans—that's the idea.

GYMNASIUM CLASSES
BEGIN OCTOBER 1ST

Physical Director F. E. Burch Will Begin Winter's Work at Y. M.
C. A. at That Time.

About the first of October the work of the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium classes will be commenced. F. E. Burch, the new physical director who was engaged last summer by the board of directors and who has been at Delavan Lake with the boys' camps for the past three weeks, came here Saturday night.

The time between now and the first of October will be spent in arranging the work and making plans for the winter.

In all probability a number of new students will be introduced into the athletic work this winter. Boys having special aptitude in the various lines will be given special and more advanced work to develop them along those lines. If time can be found for these classes will be started as well as a number of other new features.

week.

Henry Donnelly of Memphis, Tenn., is visiting his sister, Mrs. McNell.

Lester Fairchild of Beloit was here yesterday.

Arthur Jones left today for an auto trip to Milwaukee, Chicago and Kenosha.

Miss Ethel Wetzler and Miss Cella Hennegay, who have been visiting in Chicago for the past month, have returned home.

William Shattuck of Minneapolis was an over-Sunday visitor with Janesville relatives.

Mrs. Frank H. Beech of Chicago returned here last evening after having here for some time on account of the illness of her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Montzer of Seaton, Wis., (near Sisco) of this city, announced a son born Sept. 3rd, 1908.

A girl was born at the home of Rev.
and Mrs. P. F. Werth yesterday morning at 3 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dunn of Chicago spent Sunday with relatives in the city.

Harry Phillips, formerly of Janesville, is here from Chicago for a visit.
His wife and children who have been spending a week in Janesville, will return to Chicago this afternoon.

Miss Vera Lynta of Madison spent Sunday in Janesville.

Jabez Isaac of Chicago is visiting at the home of his father, Wm. Isaac.
Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Martin of Beloit spent Sunday in the city.

J. H. Nicholson leaves today for an extended trip through the West and Northwest.

Miss Alberta Coray of Bradford,
Penn., has come to this city to attend the high school. She will stay at the home of her sister, Mrs. L. A. McIntyre.

CELEBRATION IS OF QUIET ORDER

PICNICS ONLY OUTWARD EXPRES-SION OF LABOR'S JUBILEE.

BELOIT BAND WAS IN CITY

At the Early Hour of Seven This Morning to Beckon the Uncared
For Down the Line.

Janesville's conservative attitude toward holidays, a now gulf adopted for the season of 1908, only one would be persuaded—this expression again in the quiet celebration of Labor Day.

Aside from the Carpenters' Union picnic at Palmer's Grove, which is well attended and promises to be very enjoyable, there is nothing going on in the city. The two lodges of Old Fellows are enjoying a successful picnic at Crystal Springs and the Harry Clifford Camp of Spanish War Veterans are attending a quiet reunion of the Janesville, Beloit, and Rockford Camps at Homestead park. Both railroads sold many tickets to neighboring cities and the interurban line is running two section trains. Many of those who were not lured away to the gatherings mentioned or to the neighboring lakes, or to the golf links, were perhaps taken into camp by Beloit's band which played here at seven o'clock this morning in an effort to attract a good sized delegation to the city down the line.

CITY SCHOOLS TO
OPEN ON TUESDAY

Larger Attendance Than Ever Before
Is Expected In All the Schools.

Tomorrow morning the Janesville public schools will open for the school year of 1908-9. From the number of inquiries in regard to both the grade schools and the high school it is expected that the attendance will be larger than last year. The teachers will hold a preliminary meeting at the high school at 1 p. m. today.

There will be but few changes this year either in the school buildings or in the teaching force. In the Adams school a new fan-ventilating system has been installed at a cost of about $2,500 and the grounds of the Jordan school have been graded and put in excellent shape. With these two exceptions there are no changes in the buildings except minor repairs.

There will be a number of shifts in the teachers but not very many new teachers. Mrs. Monica Gagan Rose-ling and Mrs. Mabel Glenn Coon have both resigned from the Jackson school. Mrs. Roseling's place will be taken by Miss Elizabeth Little from the Grant school and Miss Mary Doloney will take Miss Little's place in the third and fourth grades of the Grant school. Miss Little taught at Elkhorn last year and is a graduate of the Whitewater Normal school.

Miss Mary Curless, a graduate of the Milwaukee Normal school, who taught last year in Milwaukee, will take Mrs. Coon's place in the first and second grades of the Jackson school.

Miss Jennie Cleland has resigned her place in the first and second grades of the Grant school and Miss Emma Whitmore from the Lincoln school will teach in her place. Miss Whitmore's position in the Lincoln school will be taken by Claude Stout who was principal last year of the Pulton graded schools.

In the high school faculty there will be only one change. Miss Torry who taught English has resigned and will go to the Superior schools at an advanced salary. Her place will be taken by Miss Harriet Sawyer who taught last year in the Fond du Lac schools. She has had five years' experience in high schools and was a member of the class of '01 of the university.

ANSWER TO SATURDAY'S PUZZLE.
Night side down, behind Jack.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Sept. 7, 1868.—An Alderman Unpleasantness. A couple of Deloit Aldermen got into a difficulty on Saturday, over a matter of grading, we understand, and but were driven off after a severe fight, came to blows on the street. Don't know that it is naughty to do so. Gen. Sheridan is "Days delight to bark and bite," etc. now at Fort Dodge.

Several of our politicians went down to Africa, on Friday last, and held a Grand National Colfax Convention.

Admitted to Jail.—Judge Lyon arrived here on the afternoon train, Mr. Watts and his wife were admitted to jail, the one in the sum of $4,000 and the other in $1,000. The bond was signed by some ten or fifteen of the prominent citizens of the place. The examination will take place, we understand, next week on Tuesday. A brother of Mr. Watts and another gentleman arrived here from Michigan on the train this afternoon and would have hailed him out if it had been necessary.

The Grand Lodge of Good Templars elected Judge Comstock, of this city, one of their board of Trustees.

Leavenworth, Kansas, Sept. 7.—

The ring-leader of a band of burglars who have committed sundry depredations in Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh, Horicon and Beaver Dam, has been caught and lodged in jail.

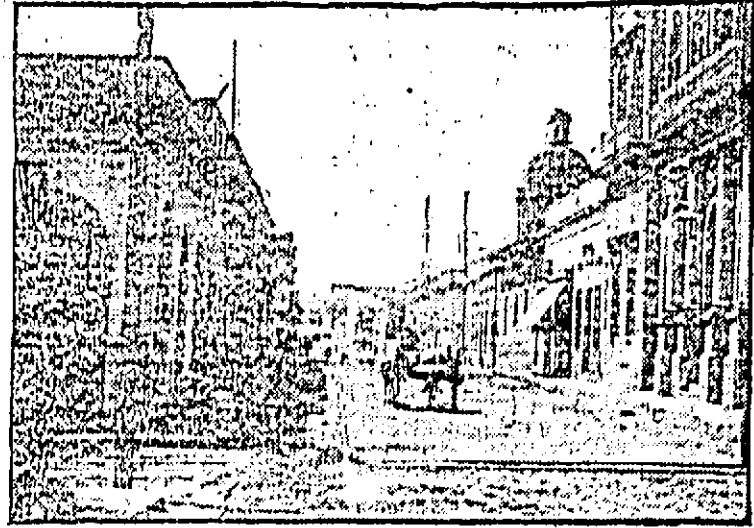

State News.—J. C. Converse of Beloit will deliver the oration at the coming Walworth county fair.

The Oshkosh Northwestern says that Winnebago county is good for 2,500 majority for Grant and Colfax and Sawyer.

Doanville and Deane have been making speeches in La Crosse. Their combined names are very suggestive of Democratic habits.

Oshkosh has a Tanner's Club, 200 strong.

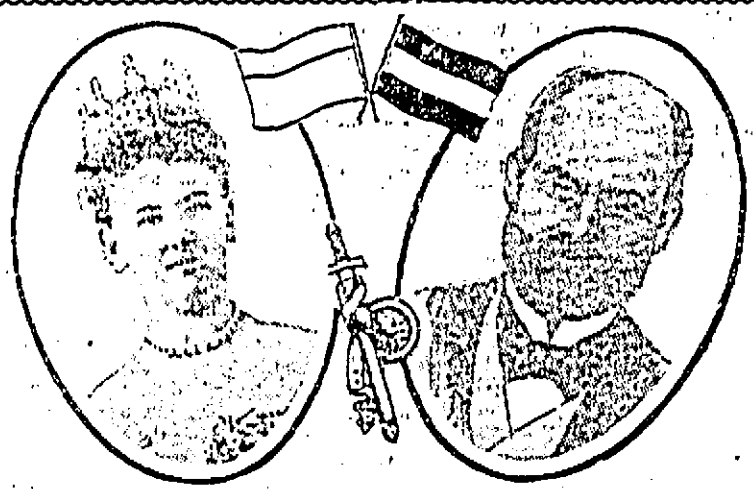

Winter wheat is an unusually large yield—in some cases, as high as forty bushels to the acre having been thrashed.

STREET SCENE IN ASUNCION, THE CAPITAL OF PARAGUAY.

Paraguay contains 157,722 square miles. This means that the republic is practically the size of California, twice as large as Nebraska, four times as large as Kentucky. With a history nearly as old as the Spanish settlement of South America, and with a civilization practically today, but at one time developed into its close to a theory as is possible on this earth. Paraguay remains the least known and visited republic of South America. Asuncion, the capital, was founded in 1537 and is therefore older than Buenos Aires, only one year younger than the city of Lima, Peru. Asuncion represents geographically in South America what St. Louis does in North America; it lies 1,000 miles from the Atlantic up the river La Plata, or rather on the Paraguay river, which is one of the great tributaries forming the immense watershed of La Plata. Ocean steamers can ascend to this port with greater facility than they can pass up the Mississippi, although in many respects the two streams are much alike. For nearly half a century the republic has been struggling to recover from the cruel blow struck by her enemies and productivity during the war which ended with the death of the dictator Lopez, and now the country is emerging from that unwarranted obscurity and depression, giving promise of soon reaching that point of development which it so well deserves.

The Hague.—The Holland-Venezuela controversy is fast approaching a climax. The demand of President Castro that Holland apologize is almost an ultimatum and it is thought that Holland will take action at once. Holland is in a very peculiar situation. Unless the Monroe doctrine should be suspended by the United States, Holland will be powerless in attempting an invasion of Venezuela on land and as Castro has no navy who would not be able to meet him on the sea. One report recently based after a prolonged conference is to the effect that Holland will blockade the Venezuela ports and feels confident that in this manner Castro can soon be brought to terms. There is no harder country in the world to deal with than Venezuela. Castro has many friends who claim he is a second Diaz and is as able a ruler as the worthy president of Mexico, has proven himself. But the fact remains that the United States, which has come in contact with this quarrelsome republic have found it impossible to get any satisfaction through legal process. The country is in a chaotic condition. Men who are well posted on Venezuelan affairs claim that Castro is surrounded by criminals and the scum of the republic that he has cast into jail many of the most worthy citizens of Venezuela for no apparent cause whatever except on some point at issue. The suffering and disease in these unsanitary prisons practically means death to every man there. So severe has been his rule that today, while he is supreme and all-powerful, it is not because of his ability, but rather because of his drastic methods, which have entirely eliminated any opposition. It is very doubtful if the United States would see fit to suspend the Monroe doctrine and unless this is done the United States would be bound to protect Venezuela against Holland.

Agreed with the Lecturer.

During a lecture at one of the leading colleges on the subject of "Ventilation and Architecture," the temperature of the room rose to a very high pitch. "And now we will turn to Greece," said the lecturer. "So we will," said one of the audience, wiping his brow, "unless you open some of the windows."

Ants Dislike Cloves.
This time of the year many ants find their way into the house, especially into the pantry. Scatter ground cloves on the pantry shelves and in places where the ants appear the most, and in a few days the ants will all be gone.

Immense Herd of Cattle.
Australia's largest cattle herd is that running on the Victoria river station, northern territory, 320 miles south of Port Darwin. It numbers 60,000,000 head.

Origin of Term "Yankee."
"Yankee" is from endeavor of Indians to pronounce the word "English," which they rendered "Yeng-yes."

Groundless Accusation.
Hosmer—"Well of all things, the idea of his accusing me of making a lie out of the whole cloth—" Peppery—"Yes, the idea!" Hosmer—"Kiddie, don't, don't!" Peppery—"Oh, very. Evidently he doesn't know how economical you are."

LOST.

LOST, Friday.—Gent's Parker pen, 514-516-518 to 519-520, 521-522, 523-524, 525-526, 527-528, 529-530, 531-532, 533-534, 535-536, 537-538, 539-540, 541-542, 543-544, 545-546, 547-548, 549-550, 551-552, 553-554, 555-556, 557-558, 559-560, 561-562, 563-564, 565-566, 567-568, 569-570, 571-572, 573-574, 575-576, 577-578, 579-580, 581-582, 583-584, 585-586, 587-588, 589-590, 591-592, 593-594, 595-596, 597-598, 599-600, 601-602, 603-604, 605-606, 607-608, 609-610, 611-612, 613-614, 615-616, 617-618, 619-620, 621-622, 623-624, 625-626, 627-628, 629-630, 631-632, 633-634, 635-636, 637-638, 639-640, 641-642, 643-644, 645-646, 647-648, 649-650, 651-652, 653-654, 655-656, 657-658, 659-660, 661-662, 663-664, 665-666, 667-668, 669-670, 671-672, 673-674, 675-676, 677-678, 679-680, 681-682, 683-684, 685-686, 687-688, 689-690, 691-692, 693-694, 695-696, 697-698, 699-700, 701-702, 703-704, 705-706, 707-708, 709-710, 711-712, 713-714, 715-716, 717-718, 719-720, 721-722, 723-724, 725-726, 727-728, 729-730, 731-732, 733-734, 735-736, 737-738, 739-740, 741-742, 743-744, 745-746, 747-748, 749-750, 751-752, 753-754, 755-756, 757-758, 759-760, 761-762, 763-764, 765-766, 767-768, 769-770, 771-772, 773-774, 775-776, 777-778, 779-780, 781-782, 783-784, 785-786, 787-788, 789-790, 791-792, 793-794, 795-796, 797-798, 799-800, 801-802, 803-804, 805-806, 807-808, 809-810, 811-812, 813-814, 815-816, 817-818, 819-820, 821-822, 823-824, 825-826, 827-828, 829-830, 831-832, 833-834, 835-836, 837-838, 839-840, 841-842, 843-844, 845-846, 847-848, 849-850, 851-852, 853-854, 855-856, 857-858, 859-860, 861-862, 863-864, 865-866, 867-868, 869-870, 871-872, 873-874, 875-876, 877-878, 879-880, 881-882, 883-884, 885-886, 887-888, 889-890, 891-892, 893-894, 895-896, 897-898, 899-900, 901-902, 903-904, 905-906, 907-908, 909-910, 911-912, 913-914, 915-916, 917-918, 919-920, 921-922, 923-924, 925-926, 927-928, 929-930, 931-932, 933-934, 935-936, 937-938, 939-940, 941-942, 943-944, 945-946, 947-948, 949-950, 951-952, 953-954, 955-956, 957-958, 959-960, 961-962, 963-964, 965-966, 967-968, 969-970, 971-972, 973-974, 975-976, 977-978, 979-980, 981-982, 983-984, 985-986, 987-988, 989-990, 991-992, 993-994, 995-996, 997-998, 999-1000, 1001-1002, 1003-1004, 1005-1006, 1007-1008, 1009-1010, 1011-1012, 1013-1014, 1015-1016, 1017-1018, 1019-1020, 1021-1022, 1023-1024, 1025-1026, 1027-1028, 1029-1030, 1031-1032, 1033-1034, 1035-1036, 1037-1038, 1039-1040, 1041-1042, 1043-1044, 1045-1046, 1047-1048, 1049-1050, 1051-1052, 1053-1054, 1055-1056, 1057-1058, 1059-1060, 1061-1062, 1063-1064, 1065-1066, 1067-1068, 1069-1070, 1071-1072, 1073-1074, 1075-1076, 1077-1078, 1079-1080, 1081-1082, 1083-1084, 1085-1086, 1087-1088, 1089-1090, 1091-1092, 1093-1094, 1095-1096, 1097-1098, 1099-1100, 1101-1102, 1103-1104, 1105-1106, 1107-1108, 1109-1110, 1111-1112, 1113-1114, 1115-1116, 1117-1118, 1119-1120, 1121-1122, 1123-1124, 1125-1126, 1127-1128, 1129-1130, 1131-1132, 1133-1134, 1135-1136, 1137-1138, 1139-1140, 1141-1142, 1143-1144, 1145-1146, 1147-1148, 1149-1150, 1151-1152, 1153-1154, 1155-1156, 1157-1158, 1159-1160, 1161-1162, 1163-1164, 1165-1166, 1167-1168, 1169-1170, 1171-1172, 1173-1174, 1175-1176, 1177-1178, 1179-1180, 1181-1182, 1183-1184, 1185-1186, 1187-1188, 1189-1190, 1191-1192, 1193-1194, 1195-1196, 1197-1198, 1199-1200, 1201-1202, 1203-1204, 1205-1206, 1207-1208, 1209-1210, 1211-1212, 1213-1214, 1215-1216, 1217-1218, 1219-1220, 1221-1222, 1223-1224, 1225-1226, 1227-1228, 1229-1230, 1231-1232, 1233-1234, 1235-1236, 1237-1238, 1239-1240, 1241-1242, 1243-1244, 1245-1246, 1247-1248, 1249-1250, 1251-1252, 1253-1254, 1255-1256, 1257-1258, 1259-1260, 1261-1262, 1263-1264, 1265-1266, 1267-1268, 1269-1270, 1271-1272, 1273-1274, 1275-1276, 1277-1278, 1279-1280, 1281-1282, 1283-1284, 1285-1286, 1287-1288, 1289-1290, 1291-1292, 1293-1294, 1295-1296, 1297-1298, 1299-1300, 1301-1302, 1303-1304, 1305-1306, 1307-1308, 1309-1310, 1311-1312, 1313-1314, 1315-1316, 1317-1318, 1319-1320, 1321-1322, 1323-1324, 1325-1326, 1327-1328, 1329-1330, 1331-1332, 1333-1334, 1335-1336, 1337-1338, 1339-1340, 1341-1342, 1343-1344, 1345-1346, 1347-1348, 1349-1350, 1351-1352, 1353-1354, 1355-1356, 1357-1358, 1359-1360, 1361-1362, 1363-1364, 1365-1366, 1367-1368, 1369-1370, 1371-1372, 1373-1374, 1375-1376, 1377-1378, 1379-1380, 1381-1382, 1383-1384, 1385-1386, 1387-1388, 1389-1390, 1391-1392, 1393-1394, 1395-1396, 1397-1398, 1399-1400, 1401-1402, 1403-1404, 1405-1406, 1407-1408, 1409-1410, 1411-1412, 1413-1414, 1415-1416, 1417-1418, 1419-1420, 1421-1422, 1423-1424, 1425-1426, 1427-1428, 1429-1430, 1431-1432, 1433-1434, 1435-1436, 1437-1438, 1439-1440, 1441-1442, 1443-1444, 1445-1446, 1447-1448, 1449-1450, 1451-1452, 1453-1454, 1455-1456, 1457-1458, 1459-1460, 1461-1462, 1463-1464, 1465-1466, 1467-1468, 1469-1470, 1471-1472, 1473-1474, 1475-1476, 1477-1478, 1479-1480, 1481-1482,

"You overwhelm me," he murmured. "Believe me, I have little conceit in my fame, such as it is." And, crouching to the windows, he looked the heavy velvet hangings and let them fall together, drawing their edges close so that no ray of light might escape. She watched him with interest. "You seem well acquainted here."

"Of course. Any man of imagination is at pains to study every house he enters. I have a map of the premises—house and grounds—here." He indicated his forehead with a long forefinger.

"Quite right, too—and worth one's while. If rumor is to be believed, you have ordinarily more than your labor for your pains. You have taught me something already."

"Ah, well!" she sighed. "I suppose I may as well acknowledge my inferiority—as neophyte to hierophant. Master!" She courtesied low. "I beg you proceed and let thy cheeks profit through observation!" And a small white hand gestured significantly toward the collection of burglar's tools—drills and chisels, skeleton keys, putty, and all—neatly displayed upon the rug before the massive sofa.

"You mean that you wish me to crack this safe for you?" he inquired, with inward consternation. "Not for me. Disappointment I admit is mine; but not for the loss I sustain. In the presence of the master I am content to stand humbly to one side, as befits one of my lowly state—in the ranks of our profession. I remain, I abdicate in your favor; eliciting nothing by right of priority."

"You are too generous," he murmured, confused by her thinly veiled ridicule.

"Not at all," she replied briskly. "I am entirely serious. My loss of today will prove my gain to-morrow. I look for incalculable benefit through study of your methods. My own, I confess, with a contemptuous loss of her head toward the burglar's kit, 'are clumsy, antiquated, out of date.' But then, I'm only an amateur."

"Oh, but a woman!" he began to apologize on her behalf.

"Oh, but a woman!" she rapped out, amiably. "I wish you to understand that this woman, at least, is no mean one." And she hesitated.

"Thief?" he supplied, crudely.

"Yes, thief! We're two of a feather, at that."

"True enough. . . . But you were first in the field; I fall to see why I should reap any reward for tardiness. The spolia must be yours."

It was a test; Mattland watched her keenly, fascinated by the subtlety of the game.

"But I refuse, Mr. Anstey—positively refuse to go to work while you stand aside and—laugh."

Prison! He stared, openly amazed, at this bold and audacious bundle of inconsistency. With each facet of her character discovered to him, minute by minute, the study of her became to him the more engrossing. He drew nearer, eyes speculative.

"I will agree," he said, slowly, "to crack the safe, but upon conditions."

She drew back imperceptibly, amused, but asserting her dignity. "You?" she led him on, though in no accent of encouragement.

"Back there, in the river," he drawled deliberately, forcing the pace, "I found you—beautiful."

She flushed, lip curling. "And, back there, in the river, I thought you—gentleman!"

"Although a burglar?"

"A gentleman for all that!"

"I promise you I mean no harm," he prefaced. "But don't you see how I am putting myself in your power?"

She chose to ignore the intimate note in his voice. "You're wasting time," she hinted, crisply.

"I am aware of that fact. Permit me to remind you that you are helping me to waste it. I will not go ahead until I have seen your face. It is simply an ordinary precaution."

"Oh, if it's a matter of business—"

"Self-preservation," he corrected, with magnificent gravity.

"She hesitated but a moment longer, then with a quick gesture removed her mask. Mattland's breath came fast as he bent forward, peering into her face; though he schooled his own features to an expression of intent and inoffensive studiousness, he feared the loud thumping of his heart would betray him. As he looked it became evident that the witchery of moonlight had not served to exaggerate the sensitive, the almost miniature, beauty of her. If anything, its charm was greater there in the full glare of the electric chandelier, as she faced him, giving him glance for glance, quite undisturbed by the intoneness of his scrutiny.

In the clear light her eyes shone lustrous, pools of tawny flame; her hair showed itself of a rich and luminous coppery hue, spun to immeasurable fineness; a faint color burned in her cheeks, but in contrast her forehead was as snow—the pure, white, close-grained skin that is the heritage of red-headed women the world over, and their chiefest charm as well; while her lips—

As for her lips, the most coherent statement to be extracted from Mr. Mattland is to the effect that they were altogether desirable, from the very first.

The hauteur of her pose, the sympathy and laughter that bristled in her mouth, the manifest breeding in the delicate modelling of her nostrils, and the firm, straight arch of her nose, the astonishing allurement of her eyes, combined with their spirited womanliness—theo, while they completed the conquest of the young man, abashed him. He found himself of a sudden endowed with a painful appreciation of his own imperfections, the littleness of his ego, the inherent coarseness of his masculine fiber, the poor futility of his ways, contrasted with her perfections. He felt as if rebuked for some unwarrantable presumption. . . . For he had looked into eyes that were windows of a soul; and the soul was that of a child, unsullied and immaculate.

You may smile; but as for Mattland, he deemed it no laughing matter. From that moment his perception was clear that, whatever she might claim to be, however damning the circumstances in which she appeared to him, there was no evil in her.

But what he did not know, and did not even guess, was that, from the same instant, his being was in bondage to her will. So love comes, strangely masked.

CHAPTER IV.

Midsummer Night's Madness.

At length, awed and not a little shamefaced, "I beg your pardon," he stammered, wretchedly.

"For what?" she demanded, quickly, head up and eyes afloat.

"For insisting. It wasn't—ah—courtship. I'm sorry."

It was her turn now to wonder; delicacy of perception such as this was not ordinarily looked for in the person of a burglar. With a laugh and a glaze she tried to pass off her astonishment.

"The thief apologizes to the thief?" "Unkind!"

Briefly hesitant, with an impulsive gesture she flung out a generous hand. "You're right; I was unkind. Forgive me. Won't you shake hands?"

"I do want to be a good comrade, since it has pleased Fate to throw us together like this, so—so oddly." Her tone was almost plaintive; unquestionably it was appealing.

Mattland was curiously moved by the touch of the slim, cool fingers that lay in his palm. Not unpleasantly, he frowned in perplexity, unable to analyze the sensation.

"You're not angry?" she asked. "No—but—but—"

"Why do you do this, little woman? Why do you stoop to this—this trade of you—of ours? Why sully your hands—and not only your hands—impair your good name, to way nothing of your liberty?"

"She drew her hand away quickly, interrupting him with a laugh that rang true as a coin now from the mint, honest and genuine.

"And this," she cried, "this from Dear Anstey! Positively, sir, you are delightful! You grow more dangerously original every minute! Your scruples, your consideration, your sympathy—they are touching—in you!" She wagged her head defiantly in pretense of disapprobation. "But shall I tell you?" more seriously, doubtfully. "I think I shall. . . . truly, I do this sort of thing, since you must know, because—impulsively, because I like it. Indeed and I do! I like the danger, the excitement, the exercise of cunning and—and I like the rewards, too, besides—"

The corners of her adorable mouth drooped over so slightly. "Besides—"

"Why? . . . But this is not business! We must hurry. Will you, or shall I?"

A crisis had been passed, Mattland understood that he must wait until a more favorable time to renew his importunities.

"I will," he said, dropping on his knees by the safe. "In my lady's service!"

"Not at all," she interposed. "I insist. The job is now yours; yours must be the profits."

"Then I wash my hands of the whole affair," he stated in accents of finality. "I refuse. I shall go, and you can do as you will—blunder on," scornfully, "with your nitroglycerin, your rags, and drills and—and rouse the entire countryside, if you will."

"Ah, but—"

"Will you accept my aid?"

"On conditions, only," she stipulated. "Hilvers!"

He shook his head.

"Half shares, or not at all!" She was firm.

"A partnership?"

This induced a moment of doubt, with: "I'm not worthy the honor."

"But," he promised rashly, "I can save you—oh, heaps of trouble in other—ah—ways."

She shrugged helplessly. "If I must—then I do accept. We are partners, Dan Anstey and I!"

He nodded mute satisfaction, brushed the tools out of his way, and bent an attentive ear to the combination.

The girl swept across the room, and there followed a click simultaneous with the total extinction of light.

Started, "Why?" he demanded.

"The risk," she replied. "We have been frightfully careless and thoughtless."

Helplessly Mattland twisted the combination dial; without the light he was wholly at a loss. But a breath later skirts rustled near him; the slide of the bull's-eye was jerked back, and a circle of illumination thrown upon the lock. He bent his head again, pretending to listen to the fall of the tumbblers as the dial was turned, but in point of fact covertly watching the letters and figures upon it.

The room grew very silent, save for the faintly regular respiration of the girl who bent near his shoulder. Her breath was fragrant upon his cheek. The consciousness of her proximity almost stifled him. . . . One fears that Mattland prolonged the counter-fort study of the combination unnecessarily.

Notwithstanding this, she seemed amazed by the ease with which he solved it. "Wonderful!" she applauded, whispering, as the heavy door swung outward without a jar.

"Flush!" he cautioned her.

In his veins that night madness was running riot, swaying him at its will. With never a doubt, never a thought of hesitancy, he forged ahead, willfully blind to consequences. On the face of it he was playing a fool's part; he knew it; the truth is simply that he could not have done other than as he did. Consciously he believed himself to be merely testing the girl; subconsciously he was plastic in the grip of an emotion stronger than his—most clay upon the potter's whirling wheel.

The interior of the safe was revealed in a shape little different from that of the ordinary household strong-boxes, lockers and the like, together with some packages of docketed bills, in the pigeon holes. The cash box, itself a safe within a safe, showed a blank face broken by a small combination dial. Behind this, in a secret compartment, the Mattland heirlooms languished, half forgotten of their heedless owner.

The cash box combination offered less difficulty than had the outer dial. Mattland had it open in a twinkling. Then, brazenly lifting out the inner framework boldly, he thrust a fumbling hand into the aperture thus disclosed and propped the spring, releasing the panel at the back. It disappeared as though by witchcraft, and the splash of light from the bull's-eye discovered a canvas bag squinting humbly in the secret compartment; a fat little canvas bag, considerably soiled from much handling, such as is used by banks for coin, a sturdy, matter-of-fact, everyday sort of canvas bag, with nothing about it of haughtiness, no air of self-importance or ostentation, to betray the fact that it was the receptacle of a small fortune.

CHARMING PRINCESS GOWN.

A princess gown such as this has unusual advantages in that the closing is on the right side instead of down back, and this closing, which is made with pearl buttons may be continued to lower edge of skirt if desired. The material employed is blue chiffon.

London's Population. The population of London, 6,519,000, standing shoulder to shoulder, would form a human wall 1,800 miles long; or put on an area of 0.7 square mile or on a square having sides of 0.84 of a mile.

Rev. C. W. Gordon of Winnipeg started his brother clergymen at a recent convention by advocating the saving of souls "right off the bat." He said that souls worked upon slowly were apt "to go bad on one's hands."

Afterward Mr. Gordon compared the honest and sincere ways of the frontier with the false and venomous ways of certain circles of society. He illuminated the comparison with a dialogue.

"I overheard this dialogue," he said, "at a reception that I once attended in Washington. The speakers were two grand dames—I believe that is the word—two powerful social leaders, one from Philadelphia, the other from New York."

"Well," said the first grande dame, "I must be off. I've got to go and see my mother."

"The second put up her lorgnette and drawled: "Really—ah—you don't mean to say you've got a mother living?"

"The first grande dame laughed—a high, thin laugh, with something biting, like acid, in it."

"Oh, yes," she said; "my mother is still alive—and she doesn't look a day older than you do, I assure you."

The Touch of Nature. Consider chickens! In the market there are speckled plymouths, and dorking and fat leghorns, chucking in many crates, but they get no notice except from customers who hold views concerning roasts and potpies.

But take, for instance, the pullet that the invalid boy carries in his arms when his mother wheels him along the street in his rolling chair, and you can't count the eyes that follow in his wake. He is a little boy who would be like other little boys if he could romp in the street, and the pullet is only an ordinary fowl, with white feathers yellowing around the hackles and a red comb—

But if it were the cock that made St. Peter cry, or the rooster that crowed in the morn to wake the priest, all shaven and shorn, or that good old hen with yellow legs that laid her master many eggs, the crowd couldn't show more curious interest.

Which shows what environment will do.—Washington Star.

Extraordinary Lightning Stroke. Prof. A. Herschel, in the Quarterly Journal of the Royal Meteorological Society, described the extraordinary effects produced by lightning in the midst of an open moor in Northumbria.

A hole four or five feet in diameter was made in the flat, peaty ground, and from this half a dozen furrows extended on all sides. Pieces of turf were thrown in various directions, one three feet in diameter and a foot thick having fallen 75 feet from the hole. Investigation showed that in addition to the effects visible on the surface, small holes had been bored in the earth radiating from the large excavation.

In accordance with section 1, of article XII, of the constitution of the State of Wisconsin, and chapters 238 and 601, of the laws of 1907, the following joint resolutions were adopted by the legislature of the State of Wisconsin at the regular session of 1907, are made a part of the foregoing notice, to-wit:

(No. 46, A.)

JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 13.

To amend section 10, article V, of the constitution, relating to the approval of bills by the governor.

Resolved by the assembly, the senate concurring, That section 10, of article V, of the constitution be amended by striking out the word "three" in line thirteen and inserting in lieu thereof the word "six" so that when so amended said section shall read as follows:

SECTION 10. Every bill which shall have passed the legislature shall before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large upon the journal and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members present shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of the members present it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for or against shall be entered on the Journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within six days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him the same shall be a law unless the legislature shall, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

(No. 22, S.)

JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 18.

Providing for an amendment to section 10, article VIII, of the constitution, relating to internal improvements.

WHEREAS, At the biennial session of the legislature for the year 1905 an amendment to the constitution of this state was proposed and agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses; which proposed amendment was in the following language:

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That section 10, of article VIII, of the constitution, be amended by adding at the end thereof the following:

"Provided, that the state may appropriate money in the treasury or to be therefrom raised by taxation for the construction or improvement of public highways." Therefore, be it.

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That the foregoing amendment to the constitution of the state of Wisconsin, be and the same is agreed to by this legislature.

(No. 47, A.)

JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 25.

WHEREAS, At the biennial session of the legislature for the year 1905 an amendment to the constitution of this state was proposed and agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses; which proposed amendment was in the following language:

Resolved by the assembly, the senate concurring, That section 1, of article III, of the constitution of the state of Wisconsin, be amended so as to read as follows: 2. Persons of foreign birth, who, prior to the first day of December, A. D., 1908, shall have declared their intentions to become citizens conformable to the laws of the United States on the subject of naturalization, provided that the rights hereby granted to such persons shall cease on the first day of December, A. D., 1910.

Therefore, resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That the foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution of the state of Wisconsin be and the same is agreed to by this legislature.

(No. 10, S.)

JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 29.

WHEREAS, At the biennial session of the legislature for the year 1905 an amendment to the constitution of this state was proposed and agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses; which proposed amendment was in the following language:

Resolved by the assembly, the senate concurring, That the foregoing proposed amendment to the constitution of the state of Wisconsin be and the same is agreed to by this legislature.

Given under my hand and official seal at the Court House in the City of Janesville, this 17th day of Aug., 1908.

HOWARD W. LEE, County Clerk.

To Wash Flannels

P. & G. Naphtha Soap is ideal for that purpose.

Read these directions:

Brush and shake flannels free from dust. Make a suds in lukewarm water. Let the flannels soak ten minutes. Meanwhile, make a strong soap suds in a quart of warm water, using a soft brush to get the soap off the cake. Squeeze and press the flannel in the soapy water; if any soiled parts appear, stretch the part on a smooth surface and rub the strong suds into the cloth with the brush. Use a wringer for flannels; do not twist them. Put flannels through a second light suds if they are much soiled, always having each water to be used no warmer than the first. Rinse until water is clear, using two or three waters if necessary and adding a little soap to each water if it is hard. Stretch garments into shape and hang them to dry. Underwear will need no pressing, but dress goods should be taken while damp and ironed till dry with a warm (not hot) iron. Iron the wrong side of the material if possible; if not, cover material with a cotton cloth of the same color and press until dry.

P. & G. Naphtha Soap is sold by good grocers everywhere.

The price is 5 cents a cake.

FEW SAILORS ARE LEFT.

American Fleet Leaves Melbourne with Practically Full Complement.

Melbourne, Sept. 7.—A patrol from the American fleet is still searching for the men who failed to go aboard their ships when they sailed Saturday morning. Those number 85. Nearly all the stragglers left behind at Sydney returned to the fleet.

A wireless message from the flagship Connecticut received here Saturday night brought the word that every one aboard from Rear Admiral Sperry down gratefully remembered Melbourne and that all considered the Australian visit the greatest demonstration of international friendship in American history.

The Argus, reviewing the visit of the fleet to Australia, says in an editorial: "A more orderly body of men never landed; officers and men alike inspired sincere regard and esteem. Never in history have two countries of different flags found such immediate and deep sympathy. Although not sure of our strength, we are sure of our aspirations to keep this continent for the white race, a clean-blooded land of Greater Britain."

The visit of the Americans aroused an unparalleled demonstration of friendship which will be memorable in its influence. The hope exists in Australian hearts that the chain of friendship will stretch across the Pacific, binding the two great nations, British and American."

ALL QUIET AT SPRINGFIELD.

Colored Man Accused of Murder Brought Back to City.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 7.—Joe James (colored), indicted on the charge of having stabbed C. A. Ballard to death when the latter grappled with James after the negro had crept into the bedroom of Ballard's daughter, occupies a cell in the Sangamon county jail under special guard. James was spirited into Springfield, having been brought here by Sheriff Warner and a squad of deputies from Bloomington, where the negro had been imprisoned since the outbreak of the recent race war here. It was the murder of Ballard that first awakened the spirit of mob violence in Springfield, there having been much talk of lynching at the time of assault upon Mrs. Ballard by an unknown negro, coming so soon after the Ballard murder, precipitated the riot August 14 when two negroes were lynched. The fact that no sort of demonstration against Joe James occurred indicated that the recent prejudice in Springfield has quieted.

Labor Leader Found Dead.

Kewanee, Ill., Sept. 7.—Adam Men-win, president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor from 1902 to 1904, was found dead in his room. He was connected with the factory inspection department of Illinois at the time of his death. Heart disease caused death.

PAPKE

MORAN

THE PRINCIPALS IN THE THREE CHAMPIONSHIP BOUTS WHICH ARE TO TAKE PLACE ON THE COAST THIS WEEK.

September 7—Al Attell, champion of the world at 122 pounds, vs. Owen Moran of England, 25 rounds, at San Francisco, Cal.
September 7—Stanley Ketchell, middle-weight champion of the world, vs. Billy Papke of Kewanee, Ill., 25 rounds, at Los Angeles, Cal.
September 9—Battling Nelson, light-heavyweight champion of the world, vs. Joe Gans, ex-champion, 125 pounds at the ringable, 45 rounds, at San Francisco, Cal.
Never in the history of the prize-fight, at Los Angeles, Cal. ring were three so important fights.

scheduled for two days as those which take place on the coast this week. The Labor Day fights will decide the middle weight championship of the world, when Billy Papke of Kewanee, Ill., bumps up against the present title holder, Stanley Ketchell of Grand. The Labor day fights will decide the same day at San Francisco, Owen Moran of England, hits the top notcher, Al Attell, for the world's championship at 122 pounds. Within 48 hours at Colma, Cal., Battling Nelson, the present light-heavyweight, meets Joe Gans, the former champion at 135 pounds. The three bouts are for the championship of their respective classes. While there is a chance at one, two or perhaps all three of the titles changing hands, it is far more likely they will remain as they are, with Ketchell, Nelson and Attell.

Naturally, the center of attraction is the Ketchell-Papke combination. Both participants in this fight are hard at work and rapidly nearing the weight figure at which they will box. Papke is training at Venice, on the outskirts of Los Angeles, while Ketchell is making his preparations in the gymnasium of the South Side Athletic club, within the city limits. Each has a big staff of sparring partners and attendants and daily accounts of the fate of some of the former human punching bags reach here. Both men are in the pink of condition and ready for the fray.

Ketchell is a strong favorite at 16 to 7, and some even go so far as to offer odds of 2 to 1 with even money that Papke does not last 15 rounds. This is considered out of proportion by conservative followers of the two middle-weights, and they claim that the fight is not likely to be nearly as one-sided as this would indicate. Those who saw the Milwaukee fight, when Papke was put out of business by Ketchell after a fight which was undecided up to the last moment, and might at any round be turned one way or the other, claim that Papke will give Ketchell the hardest fight of his career, and that he stands a fair chance of winning middleweight honors.

Papke was a bit unlucky in the first meeting of the men. As they stepped to the center of the ring for the first exchange, Ketchell shot a straight right to the point of the jaw that dropped Billy like a log. He got up without waiting for the referee to count, but was dazed and so surprised that incident seemed to upset his whole plan of battle. Nevertheless, in that very round he fought back nobly, and was doing the better work of the pair at the sound of the bell.

That punch made Papke respect Ketchell, but he at once found a way to avoid it, and seeing he would have to change his mode of attack in order to land with effect, Stanley shifted to the use of the left mitt, which he can use with equal facility, and with a series of lightning-like and accurate, few of which Papke seemed able to block, he gradually wore Billy down, and in the final three rounds had much the best of the fight. But Ketchell as well as Papke was a tired man at the finish, and neither possessed a punch, though had it gone further Ketchell would doubtless have stopped his man in the end.

The impression that Ketchell walked away with that fight at Milwaukee is erroneous. It took every ounce of strength, skill and courage at the champion's disposal to win, and with only a few months separating the two bouts, why will Ketchell have an easy time with the Illinois boy this afternoon, as the betting on the coast would lead one to believe?

Carpets Cleaned By Electricity

No Dust or Dirt. No Taking Up or Laying of Carpets.

The work is done with a little box-like machine on rubber tired wheels which is taken into the room you want cleaned. The connection is made with your electric light socket, a button turned, and the suction apparatus starts. By suction all the dust and dirt is drawn from the carpet and deposited in the machine. We estimate to clean a 9x12 carpet in an hour. The cost is 75c an hour.

This method may seem somewhat expensive at first glance, but when it is remembered that there is no taking up or putting down of the carpet, and dust or dirt in connection with the work you will readily see that it is economical and very satisfactory. It is highly recommended by those who are familiar with the method.

The machine has been used in the Masonic hall with excellent success. Mr. Korst of the Electric company is familiar with the machine and endorses it highly.

Call or write for demonstration and further information.

Chicago Is Again Baseball Crazy.

THIS PICTURE SHOWS A CROWD NUMBERING WELL INTO THE TENS OF THOUSANDS BLOCKING THE THOROUGHFARE WHILE WATCHING THE TRIBUNE SCORE-BOARD

Six weeks ago it looked as though day suddenly transposed to the night that the world's championship series of the baseball battle will again be fought out on Chicago ground. As a result Chicago—one of the best baseball towns in the world—is so intense has become Chicago interest in this possibility that the certain of all vagaries—baseball back again baseball crazy and it is the interest in this possibility that the both of the Chicago teams are to the Chicagoan's day is to canvass the day's scores before his dinner hour. A glance at the percentage tables in the American and National leagues is sufficient to demonstrate the remarkable fascinating speculative charm which this baseball race incites. Last Monday, for example, Detroit was leading the American league with a percentage of 591, while St. Louis and Chicago were racing for first place with respective percentages of 569 and 564. Meanwhile in the National league on the same day the Giants of

New York held first place, with the percentage of 605, while Chicago pressed on in second place, but six points behind, with a percentage of 599, while Pittsburgh followed Chicago but four points to the rear, with a percentage of 595.
